3.1 President's Report

- Julie announced that the decision on the Distinguished Librarian rank was still under review

On September 13, 2000 Julie went to the Regents Legislative Public Policy Conference in Albany and had a chance to speak during the breakout session. The library legislation recommendation #8 asks for $4.8M in 2002 for the "academic and research initiative". Julie doesn't have any idea how much money SUNY libraries will receive, however. She will distribute booklets at the next meeting from the Regents Commission on Libraries that will outline the funding recommendations.

- A reminder to those on the council that they should join the SUNYLAC LISTSERV as this list is used for issues just for the council. To join:

- Send an email to sunylac-request@slscaa.sysadm.suny.edu
- In the message field, type in subscribe sunylac

- ARIEL initiative. Julie will send a message to the SUNYLA list to see who is interested in getting information on the pros and cons of the ARIEL system
- UCITA (Uniform Computer Information Transactions Act). ALA will be offering an email workshop to inform librarians about this legislation.

SPARC (Scholarly Publications & Academic Resources Coalition). Julie announced this initiative and asked if we should get a speaker for this subject at next year's conference.

Conference Report. Julie handed out a sheet outlining the final report for the Conference committee for the 2000 SUNYLA conference. She suggested that to better cover the cost of the conference that the fees for next year's conference be raised.

Electronic Votes. The two electronic votes--one to endorse the SUNYConnect draft document from OLIS and the second to appoint representatives to the North American ALEPH Users Group were passed. Julie wishes to thank everyone who applied to the Users Group position.

Julie announced that the Conference on the Future of Reference Issues would take place in Rochester. For more information, see <http://www.dyc.edu/library99/acrl/site2000/home-fall.htm>. Two SUNY presenters will speak at the conference.

- Julie asked for an update on the Webliography project. Jim Coan stated that a newsletter article is forthcoming.

3.2 Report of the First Vice President/President Elect--Gretchen Douglas

Gretchen outlined the findings of her research into management training courses with the Association of Research Libraries Office of Leadership and Management Services (ARL/OLMS). ARL's public events are offered to anyone interesting in attending They are typically three days in length and range from $300-$800. See their website at <http://www.arl.org/training/index.htm>.

If SUNYLA wished to sponsor an event, billing would be reduced by 25% per person If held at an ARL library (Buffalo, Stony Brook, Albany) a member rate applies. Sponsored events can be customized, as needed.

- Online training is also available for $175-$350 per person. ARL member librarians get a member rate.

A discussion about this topic came about. B. Drew asked who the target audience of these courses was to be. He did not want directors, etc. to go to the courses.

M. Smith wanted to know if the courses were open to just the SUNYLA membership (consensus was membership only). B. Drew stated that should be limited to membership only and supplement cost. M. Smith suggested that SUNYLA should contact Carey Hatch and see if his office can help sponsor events. Julie Wash suggested that members of UUP could apply for UUP professional development grants.

- Gretchen stated that she would go to the SUNYLA list to ask for further input on this issue.

3.3 Second Vice President--Jennifer Quigley

Jennifer asked for input on the theme for the 2001 SUNYLA conference. The suggested theme was "Innovations in Libraries: Overcoming Obstacles". After a short discussion, it was suggested that "Innovation in Libraries: Meeting the Challenges" was better.
